General Details

Introduction

A Census of Population was taken on the night of Sunday, 13 April 1986 in accordance with the Statistics (Census of Population) Order 1986 (S.I. No. 61 of 1986)¹. Copies of the Census questionnaire and of accompanying instructions are reproduced in Appendix 1 of Volume 1 of the detailed Census report.

This fourth volume of the detailed report is in two parts. Part I contains classifications by age at which fulltime education ceased for persons aged 15 years and over while part II contains details on the subject of scientific and technological qualifications.

The territorial divisions of the country distinguished in this report are defined in Appendices 2–4 of Volume 1.

Subsequent Census volumes will analyse the population by such other characteristics as Irish language, industry, occupation and usual residence. The principal features of the 1986 Census results have already been published in two series of Local Population Reports which were issued on a county-by-county basis immediately details became available (see Appendix 1).

Coverage

The Census figures relate to the de facto population – i.e. the population recorded for each area represents the total of all persons present within its boundaries on the night of Sunday, 13 April 1986 together with all persons who arrived in that area on the morning of Monday, 14 April 1986 who had not been enumerated elsewhere. Persons on board ships in port are included with the population of adjacent areas. The figures, therefore, include visitors present on Census night as well as those in residence, while usual residents temporarily absent from the area are excluded.

The date of the Census was chosen to coincide with a period when passenger movements were at a minimum and, consequently, the figures closely approximate to those for the normally resident population. Members of the Defence Forces who on Census night were serving abroad with the United Nations were excluded from the enumeration.

Conduct of the Census

The Census enumeration was carried out by a specially recruited temporary field force consisting of 327 fulltime supervisors and 3,221 part-time enumerators. The Census questionnaires were distributed during the three weeks immediately preceding the Census night and the collection of the completed questionnaires commenced the following day. The enumerators examined the questionnaires at the time of collection to ensure that they were correctly completed and, where necessary, they assisted householders in their completion.

Production of Results

Each enumerator prepared in the first instance a summary of the population in his/her Enumeration Area. These summaries formed the basis for the provisional 1986 population results issued in two Census publications² within months of the Census date. The completed questionnaires for the individual households were subsequently sent to the Census Office for processing.

The population summaries, dwelling listings and enumeration maps for individual Enumeration Areas were checked for consistency in County order and used to determine the boundaries of Census Towns and suburbs/environs of towns with legal boundaries. The first stage clerical scrutiny and computer processing of the entries for date of birth, marital status and relationship to head of household (questions 1–6) on the Census questionnaire proceeded concurrently in the same County order. These two operations combined allowed the publication of the first set of final Census results in a special series of Local Population Reports as individual counties were completed. These were issued over a seven month period commencing in July 1987. A summary report for the State was published in November 1987.

¹ Made by the Minister of State at the Department of the Taoiseach in pursuance of powers conferred on him by Sub-Section 1 of Section 16 of the Statistics Act 1926 and the Statistics Acts 1926 and 1946 (Transfer of Ministerial Functions) Order 1949 (S.I. No. 142 of 1949) and the Statistics (Delegations of Ministerial Functions) Order 1983 (S.I. No. 13 of 1983).

² Census of Population of Ireland, 1986 – Preliminary Population Figures (Pl. 4224), July 1986
– Preliminary Report (Pl. 4375), September 1986.

These operations also formed the basis of the first three volumes of the detailed Census report. The computer processing of the remaining information on the Census questionnaires provided the basis for a second set of Local Population Reports published between November 1988 and June 1989 and for the second Summary State Report issued in November 1989. This approach ensured that the principal Census results were published in a timely manner.

A complete list of the reports on the 1986 Census published to date is given in Appendix 1.

Small Area Population Statistics (SAPS)

Small area population statistics for Urban Districts, Rural Districts, Towns, District Electoral Divisions, etc. from the 1986 Census are available on computer printout and magnetic tape on a commercial basis in two formats. One format contains detailed classifications of the population by age, sex and marital status and of households by size and by age, sex and marital status of the head of the household. Details of family units classified by size, age of youngest child, etc. are also provided.

The second format is more detailed and contains in addition classifications of the population by principal economic status, age and sex; classifications of persons at work by sex, employment status and broad industrial sector; classifications of persons at work, unemployed and retired by sex and occupational group; detailed classifications by socio-economic group, social class, age education ceased, ability to speak Irish, means of travel and distance travelled to work, etc.

Education

The Census question relating to education was formulated as follows:

STATE AGE AT WHICH FULLTIME
CEASED

The following more specific instructions as to how the question should be answered were given in the explanatory notes attached to the Census questionnaire:

This question should be completed for each person aged 15 years or over who is no longer receiving fulltime education. No entry should be made in respect of part-time education received. Do not complete for persons still receiving fulltime education.

A total of 110,136 persons did not state the age at which their fulltime education ceased. These persons have not been included in any tables in the commentary or in the detailed tables giving percentage distribution of age at which education ended.

Scientific or Technological Qualifications

The Census question relating to scientific or technological qualifications was formulated as follows:

SCIENTIFIC OR TECHNOLOGICAL QUALIFICATIONS

If the person has such qualifications state at (a) the qualifications held and at (b) the main subject(s) in which held.

The following more specific instructions as to how the question should be answered were given in the explanatory notes attached to the Census questionnaire:

This question should be answered for persons who hold one or more qualifications of the type listed below in a branch of science or technology, including natural sciences, engineering, medical sciences, agricultural sciences and social sciences, but excluding commerce, domestic science and nursing.

- (a) Qualifications – the qualification(s) held should be stated at (a) – see examples below.

Qualifications

Certificate, Diploma, Associateship or Degree awarded by an educational institution (e.g. University, National Council for Educational Awards, City and Guilds, Department of Education, etc.) following at least one year's fulltime study (or equivalent part-time study) after the Leaving Certificate or its equivalent. Graduate or Corporate Membership of a Professional Institution.

Examples of entry at (a)

National Certificate (NCEA); City and Guilds Technician Certificate; National Diploma (NCEA); College Technician Diploma; A.R.C.Sc.I.; A.I.M.L.S.; Grad.I.E.E.; Grad.I.Mech.E.; B.Sc.; B.E.; M.E.; Ph.D.; B.A. (Mathematics); B.Soc.Sc.; M.B.; B.Ch.; B.A.O.; M.Econ.Sc.; M.I.E.I.; M.I.C.I.; M.R.I.C.; M.I.Mech.E.; A.Inst.P.; F.I.M.L.S.; M.I.Biol.

(b) Main Branch

The main branch of science or technology in which the qualification(s) are held should be stated at (b), e.g. Agriculture; Horticulture; Veterinary Science; Physics; Medicine; Dentistry; Pharmacy; Biochemistry; Mathematical Physics; Architecture; Mechanical Engineering; Applied Biology; Applied Chemistry; Electronics; Geography; Sociology; Economics; etc.

This question was identical to that asked at the 1981 Census with the exception that Geography was included as a relevant branch in 1986 whereas it was excluded in 1981. Qualifications were coded on a subject matter basis according to the categories listed in Appendix 2.

Classification by Occupation

All persons aged 15 years and over who were at work, unemployed (other than first job seekers) or retired were classified in the Census to their usual (or previous) principal occupation.

A person's occupational classification is determined by the kind of work performed in earning a living, irrespective of the place in which or the purpose for which it is performed. The nature of industry, business or service in which the person is working has no bearing upon the classification of occupations. For example, the occupation "clerk" covers clerks employed in manufacturing industries, commerce, banking, insurance, public administration, professions and other services, etc.

The most detailed level of occupations used in the 1986 Census classification is given in Appendix 3, while the intermediate level of occupational groups used is shown in Appendix 4.

Classification by Socio-Economic Group

The entire population was classified to one of eleven socio-economic groups plus a residual "unknown" group if sufficient details were not provided. The occupations assigned to each of the eleven groups are generally similar as regards the level of skill or educational attainment required. The socio-economic group of persons aged 15 years or over who were at work was determined by their occupation or in some cases by a combination of occupation and employment status. Unemployed or retired persons were classified by socio-economic group according to their former occupation.

Persons engaged in home duties or at school/college, who were members of a family unit, are classified to the socio-economic group of the person in the family on whom they were deemed to be dependent. Thus, if the head of a family was at work, unemployed or retired, dependent persons are assigned to his/her socio-economic group. If the head was neither at work, unemployed nor retired (e.g. never worked, permanently disabled, etc.) or if his/her occupation was not known, they are assigned to the socio-economic group of the principal earner in the family – if there was no such earner, they are assigned to the unknown socio-economic group. Other persons engaged in home duties or at school/college who were not members of a family unit, such as persons living alone or relatives of a head of household who were not members of the family unit (e.g. widowed grandparents, etc.), are assigned to the unknown group.

The actual socio-economic groups used in the Census were as follows:

- 0 Farmers, farmers' relatives and farm managers
- 1 Other agricultural occupations and fishermen
- 2 Higher professional
- 3 Lower professional
- 4 Self-employed (with employees) and managers
- 5 Salaried employees
- 6 Intermediate non-manual workers
- 7 Other non-manual workers
- 8 Skilled manual workers
- 9 Semi-skilled manual workers
- X Unskilled manual workers
- Y Unknown

A detailed listing of the constituent occupations in each socio-economic group is given in Appendix 5.

Classification by Industry

The industry in which a person is engaged is determined (whatever the occupation) by the main economic activity carried out at the local unit at which he or she works. If, however, the local unit provides an ancillary service to another unit (e.g. administration, storage, etc.) in the business then the persons in the ancillary unit are classified to the industry of the unit it services. Thus, while the occupational classification is concerned only with the particular work performed by the individual regardless of the activity carried on at the local unit, the industrial classification is concerned only with the ultimate purpose or end product regardless of the precise nature of the work performed by each individual. A single manufacturing concern or commercial undertaking may employ persons with many different occupations for the purpose of making a particular product or giving a particular service. Conversely, there are many cases in which particular occupations are largely confined to a single industry. For example, the majority of persons having agricultural occupations are in the agricultural industry and most miners are in the mining industry.

It will be noted that the term "industry" as used for Census of Population purposes is not confined to manufacturing industry, but is regarded as being synonymous with the term "sector of economic activity". The basis of the industrial classification is, in the case of employees, the business or profession of their employer and in the case of self-employed persons is the nature of their own business or profession.

The detailed level of industries used in the 1986 Census classification is given in Appendix 6, while the intermediate level of industry groups used is shown in Appendix 7.

Labour Force

The labour force comprises persons aged 15 years and over who are "at work", "seeking regular work for the first time" or "unemployed". The labour force (and its constituent) figures shown in this Volume are directly based on the Census and, therefore, differ slightly from the official mid-April 1986 labour force estimates which are contained in the annual series of Labour Force Survey reports.

Commentary

Education

The total population aged 15 years and over in 1986 was 2,515,942 of whom 1,244,044 were males and 1,271,898 were females. Of these some 245,210 comprising 121,373 males and 123,837 females were attending school, university, etc. on a fulltime basis. The remaining 2,270,732 had ceased fulltime education.

In Table A the 1981 and 1986 populations are compared showing persons still at school, university, etc. and those whose fulltime education had ceased.

Table A:- Population aged 15 years and over, showing persons still at school, university, etc. and persons who had ceased fulltime education - 1981 and 1986.

Total Persons (aged 15 years and over)	2,400	2,516	1,194	1,244	1,206	1,272

While the total population aged 15 years and over increased by 5 per cent between 1981 and 1986 the number of persons still at school, university, etc. rose by 23 per cent; 25 per cent in the case of males and 20 per cent in the case of females. In 1986 the proportion of males aged 15 years and over who were still in fulltime education was 9.7 per cent compared with 8.1 per cent in 1981. The corresponding proportions for females were 9.7 per cent in 1986 compared with 8.5 per cent in 1981.

Table B provides a comparison between 1981 and 1986 of the proportion of persons at each of the ages 15 to 24 who were receiving fulltime education.

Participation rates in fulltime education increased for each single year of age for both males and females between 1981 and 1986. The most marked increases were for males aged 17-21 years and females aged 18-22 years.

In 1986, female participation rates in education exceeded those for males in the case of 15-19 year olds while the opposite was the case for 20-24 year olds. A similar relationship was observed in 1981.

Age at which fulltime Education ceased

The continuing improvement in the educational level of the general population resulting from the tendency of younger people to remain in education longer is illustrated in Table C.

Table C:- Distribution of persons, males and females who ceased fulltime education according to age at which fulltime education ceased - 1966, 1971, 1981 and 1986.

The proportion of the total population who ceased fulltime education while under 15 years of age had fallen from 55 per cent in 1966 to 29 per cent in 1986. Over 58 per cent of the population in 1986 had been fulltime students up to age 16 or over and 12 per cent of the total population had been at school or college up to age 19 or over.

† Including those still in education

In Table D persons still receiving fulltime education are included in the calculations as the table deals only with persons aged 20 years and over and, therefore, such persons will fall into the category of ceasing fulltime education aged 19 years and over. The improvement over time can be readily seen by examining the declining percentages in the younger age groups leaving school under 15 years of age. More than 63 per cent of males aged 75 years and over had left school under 15 years of age whereas only 5 per cent of males in the 20–24 year age group had left school at this age. A similar improvement can be seen in the case of females where the proportion leaving school under 15 had declined from approximately 52 per cent for those aged 75 and over to 4 per cent for those aged 20–24.

A corresponding increase has taken place in the younger age groups of persons remaining at school, college, etc. until the late teens or older. In the case of males, 60 per cent of those aged 20–24 years remained in fulltime education until 17 years or more whereas only 15 per cent of those aged 75 years or more had done so. Similarly, for females the corresponding percentages were 71 per cent for those aged 20–24 and 22 per cent for those aged 75 years or more.

Scientific or Technological Qualifications

A total number of 82,230 persons held scientific or technological qualifications as defined for Census purposes (see page 9). About three quarters of these (some 60,827 persons) were males. Table E summarises the number of persons by main subject or branch in which qualification is held, classified by sex and by whether in the labour force or not.

Table E:– Persons, males and females with a scientific or technological qualification, in the labour force and not in the labour force, classified by main branch of science in which qualification is held.

Males predominated among qualification holders in agricultural science (including veterinary) and in engineering, architecture and surveying. Over 90 per cent of all degree and diploma holders in agricultural science were males while in the fields of engineering, architecture and surveying the relevant percentage was 96. However, females were much more strongly represented in the medical and social sciences (including economics). Females accounted for 46 per cent of all persons with qualifications in the medical sciences while the relevant percentage for social sciences (including economics) was 48.

There was a substantial variation in the participation rate in the labour force between males and females with qualifications in science and technology. For males, 91 per cent of those with degrees or diplomas were in the labour force whereas the corresponding percentage in the case of females was 73 per cent. The branch of science with the highest level of labour force participation rates (for both men and women) was the engineering, architecture and surveying branch. The greatest disparity between male and female labour force participation rates was in the case of agricultural science (including veterinary).

The distribution of persons with degrees or sub-degree diplomas in scientific or technological subjects between the various industrial sectors in which they work is summarised in Tables F and G, respectively. The contrast in the percentages of graduates versus diploma holders employed in manufacturing industries is striking. In the case of graduates 13 per cent of the total were at work in the manufacturing sector compared with 30 per cent of diploma holders. On the other hand some 54 per cent of degree holders at work were in the professional services compared with 22 per cent for diploma holders.

About a third of agricultural science (including veterinary) graduates are employed in public administration and defence – a further one fifth being employed in veterinary surgery. The main sectors of employment for engineering, architecture and surveying graduates are “manufacturing” (23.7 per cent), “building and construction” (18.6 per cent) and “consulting engineering”, etc. (17.1 per cent). About 70 per cent of medical graduates are employed in the “hospitals and other medicine” sector. Over a third of social science graduates and approximately a half of natural science graduates are employed in the “education” sector.

The regional distribution of persons with degrees or sub-degree diplomas in the various disciplines of science and technology are summarised in Tables H and I, respectively. There is a strong similarity in the regional pattern of employment of both graduates and diploma holders. The "Eastern" region predominates, containing 40 per cent of the labour force but yet absorbing 52 per cent of the graduates and 43 per cent of the diploma holders in science and technology. Holders of qualifications in engineering were particularly strongly represented in the "Eastern" region which accounted for 56 per cent of all graduates in engineering and 48 per cent of diploma holders in this discipline. The "Eastern" region also contained a much greater proportion of the graduates in the "social sciences" (57 per cent) than its corresponding share of the overall labour force (40 per cent). However this region did not dominate to the same extent in the case of graduates in "medical and related sciences" while it contained proportionately less than its share of the total labour force in the case of "agricultural science" graduates.

CODING SYSTEM USED FOR THE CLASSIFICATION OF SCIENTIFIC AND TECHNOLOGICAL QUALIFICATIONS.

Code

The preparation of the coding system was commissioned by the National Board for Science and Technology and was carried out by the Department of Industrial Engineering, University College, Galway. A three-digit coding system was used, structured as follows:

The First Digit

This digit represents the main branch of Science or Technology as follows:

1. & 2. Engineering (excluding computer engineering).
3. Natural Sciences.
4. Social Sciences.
5. Agricultural Sciences.
6. Medical Sciences.
7. Computer Science and Computer Engineering.
8. Multiple Qualifications at same level in different main branches.

The Second Digit

The second digit is used to subdivide the main branch into its specific fields. In the Natural Sciences branch the fields are very numerous so related fields have been grouped together.

The Third Digit

The third digit is used to classify qualifications into main levels; seven levels were identified:

1. Doctorate Degrees.
 - Ph.D. Degrees.
2. Masters Degrees.
3. Post-graduate non-degree awards.
 - This level includes various conversion courses and post-graduate diplomas.
4. Primary Degrees or Equivalent.
 - An example of equivalence would be corporate membership of a professional institution.
5. Higher Technician Qualifications.
 - The majority of these are awarded on completion of three year courses. This level includes National Diplomas and Department of Education Higher Technological Certificates.
6. Technician Qualifications.
 - The majority of these are awarded on completion of two year courses. This level includes National Certificates, City & Guilds Part III, full Technological Certificate and Department of Education Advanced Technological Certificate.
7. Lower Technician Qualifications.
 - This level includes N.C.E.A., One Year Certificates, Department of Education Elementary and Intermediate Technological Certificates and City & Guilds Certificates Parts I and II.
8. Level Unspecified.

Coding Procedures:

Basically, the code caters for one qualification per person. In the case of multiple qualifications, the highest level of qualification held is coded. Special provision is made for multiple qualifications at the same level:

- (i) Multiple Qualifications under different main branches.
 - This is catered for under a separate "main branch" identifiable when the first digit is 8.
- (ii) Multiple Qualifications under same main branch.
 - These are catered for within the main branch itself e.g. in Engineering, two primary degrees would go under Field Specified Section.

In the case of foreign qualifications levels had to be estimated in some instances.

The Fields Separately Coded

The fields separately identified in the coding system (first 2 digits) were as follows:

Engineering

- 10. Architecture and Town Planning.
- 11. Civil Engineering.
- 12. Surveying.
- 13. Electrical Engineering.
- 14. Electronic Engineering.
- 15. Mechanical Engineering.
- 16. Production/Industrial Engineering.
- 17. Mechanical and Electrical Engineering.
- 18. Agricultural Engineering.
- 19. Chemical Engineering.
- 20. Engineering – field or fields specified.
- 21. Engineering – field unspecified.

Natural Sciences

- 30. Biological Sciences i.e. Botany, Microbiology, Physiology, Zoology, Anatomy, Industrial Microbiology, Environmental Sciences, Genetics, Biology, Aquatic Biology, Aquaculture, Applied Biology.
- 31. Biochemistry (including Biotechnology).
- 32. Chemistry (including Analytical Chemistry, Chemical Technology, Industrial Chemistry, Polymer Science, Applied Chemistry).
- 33. Earth Sciences i.e. Applied Geophysics, Geology, Oceanography, Mining Geology, Mineral Engineering, Mineral Processing, Mineral Surveying, Mineral Science.

- 35. Mathematical Sciences i.e. Mathematical Science, Theoretical Physics, Mathematical Physics, Applied Mathematics, Numerical Analysis, Functional Analysis, Statistics, Mathematics.
- 36. A combination of Biological Sciences and Physical Sciences – Biological Sciences are as defined above and Biochemistry and Physical Sciences were defined as Physics and Chemistry, respectively.
- 37. A combination of Physical Sciences and Mathematical Sciences – Mathematical Sciences are as defined above.
- 38. Other Sciences with field unspecified but not included in the above categories e.g. Food Sciences – this category also caters for multiple qualifications at the same level in different branches of Natural Sciences.

39. Other Sciences with field unspecified.

Social Sciences including Economics

41. Social Science and Sociology.

42. Commerce including Economics and Business.

43. Politics.
