General Details

Introduction

A Census of Population was taken on the night of Sunday, 21 April 1991, in accordance with the Statistics (Census of Population) Order 1991 (S.I. No. 62 of 1991)¹. A copy of the census questionnaire including the explanatory notes which accompanied it is reproduced in Appendix 1, Volume 1 of the detailed census report.

This tenth volume of the detailed report which contains tables relating to housing and social amenities is in two parts. Part I refers to private households/dwellings in permanent housing units and Part II covers permanent housing units.

The territorial divisions of the country distinguished in this report are defined in Appendices 3-8 of Volume 1.

Coverage

The census figures relate to the de facto population, i.e. the population recorded for each area represents the total of all persons present within its boundaries on the night of Sunday, 21 April 1991, together with all persons who arrived in that area on the morning of Monday, 22 April 1991, not having been enumerated elsewhere. Persons on board ships in port are included with the population of adjacent areas. The figures, therefore, include visitors present on census night as well as those in residence, while usual residents temporarily absent from the area are excluded.

The date of the census was chosen to coincide with a period when passenger movements were at a minimum and, consequently, the figures closely approximate to those for the normally resident population. Members of the Defence Forces who on census night were serving abroad with the United Nations were excluded from the enumeration.

Conduct of the Census

The census enumeration was carried out by a specially recruited temporary field force consisting of 334 full-time supervisors and some 3,200 part-time enumerators. The census questionnaires were distributed during the three weeks immediately preceding the census night and the collection of the completed questionnaires commenced the following day. The enumerators examined the questionnaires at the time of collection to ensure that they were correctly completed and, where necessary, they assisted householders in their completion.

Production of Results

Each enumerator first prepared and returned to the Central Statistics Office a summary of the population in his/her enumeration area. These summaries formed the basis for the preliminary 1991 population results issued in three census publications within months of the census date². The completed questionnaires for the individual households were subsequently transmitted to the Central Statistics Office for processing.

The population summaries, dwelling listings and enumeration maps for individual enumeration areas were checked for consistency in county order and used to determine the boundaries of census towns and suburbs/environs of towns with legal boundaries. The first stage clerical scrutiny and computer processing of the entries for date of birth, marital status and relationship to head of household (questions 1-6) on the census questionnaire proceeded concurrently in the same county order. These two operations combined allowed the publication of the first set of final census results in a series of Local Population Reports which were issued on a county-by-county basis immediately results became available (see Appendix). A summary report for the State was issued in April 1993.

The derived first phase computer file formed the basis for three volumes of the detailed census report covering Areas, Ages and Marital Status and Household Composition and Family Units. The computer processing of the remaining information on the census questionnaires enabled the publication of a second series of Local Population Reports covering place of birth, religion, Irish speakers, usual residence, car usage and household characteristics.

A complete list of the reports on the 1991 Census published to date is given in the Appendix.

Definitions

All classifications relate to occupied housing units only. Statistics of unoccupied housing units were not compiled because of the difficulty of determining, in many cases, whether unoccupied accommodation could be regarded as habitable or not.

Private Household

A private household is defined as a group of persons living together (usually but not necessarily related), jointly occupying the whole or part of a private dwelling house, flat or temporary dwelling and sharing a common budget. A person who lives alone or a person who occupies only part of the living accommodation but does not normally share a common budget with the other occupants is also regarded as constituting a separate private household.

Non-private Household

A non-private household is a boarding house, hotel, guest house, barrack, hospital, nursing home, boarding school, religious institution, welfare institution, prison or ship, etc. However, proprietors and managers of hotels, principals of boarding schools, persons in charge of various other types of institutions and members of staff who, with their families, occupy flats on the premises are classified as private households.

Farm Household

A farm household is a household in which at least one of the usual residents is a working or retired farmer.

Housing Unit

A housing unit is a conventional house, a structurally separate flat or a temporary dwelling, regardless of the number of private households it contains, when temporary dwellings are excluded the definition relates to a permanent housing unit. Generally, one private household occupies one housing unit but households at the same address sharing toilet facilities are grouped into one housing unit. In 1991 there were 1,006,506 permanent housing units in the State in which there were 1,019,723 private households.

Private Dwelling

A private dwelling is the room or set of rooms occupied by a private household in a permanent housing unit. There is thus a one to one correspondence between such private households and private dwellings and the numbers of these entities are the same in all instances.

Temporary Dwelling

Households occupying caravans or other temporary dwellings have been included as private households but most tabulations concerning private households have been compiled for private households in permanent housing units and, therefore, exclude all such temporary dwellings.

Number of Rooms

The number of rooms occupied by a private household is the total number used by the household, including a kitchen, but excluding a kitchenette, scullery, bathroom, toilet, consulting room, office or shop.

Size of Household

The number of persons in a household consists of the total number of persons present there on the night of Sunday, 21 April 1991, together with all persons who arrived in the household on the morning of Monday, 22 April 1991, not having been enumerated elsewhere. The size of household, therefore, includes any visitors present in the household on census night but excludes any usual residents of the household temporarily absent.

Questions on Census Form

The questions on the census questionnaires from which the details contained in this Volume were derived are reproduced below

Nature of Occupancy

Each private household was classified according to the nature of occupancy of the house, flat or rooms in question 25

25. NATURE OF OCCUPANCY OF HOUSE, FLAT or ROOMS (Insert ✓ in appropriate box)

- | | |
|---|----------------------------|
| Rented from Local Authority (Corporation, County or Urban District Council) | ☐ 1 |
| Rented unfurnished, other than from Local Authority | ☐ 2 |
| Rented furnished or part furnished | ☐ 3 |
| Being acquired from Local Authority under a Purchase or Vested Cottage Scheme | ☐ 4 |
| Owner occupied where loan or mortgage repayments are being made | ☐ 5 |
| Owner occupied where no loan or mortgage repayments are being made | ☐ 6 |
| Occupied free of rent (caretaker, company official, etc) | ☐ 7 |

In the case of a permanent housing unit consisting of more than one household, the nature of occupancy of the housing unit was taken to be that of the principal household e.g. an owner occupied household within a housing unit meant that the housing unit was classified as owner occupied

Rent

The amount of rent paid for rented private households (i.e. categories 1, 2 and 3 in question 25) was obtained from responses to the following question

26. RENT (For Categories 1, 2 and 3 of Question 25)

If the house, flat or rooms are rented, state the rent and indicate the period which applies by inserting ✓ in the appropriate box

RENT		Week	☐ 1
£	p	Two weeks	☐ 2
		Four weeks	☐ 3
		Month	☐ 4
		Two months .	☐ 5
		Three months	☐ 6
		Six months	☐ 7
		Year	☐ 8
		per

In the case of a permanent housing unit consisting of more than one household where each household was rented, the rent of the housing unit was taken to be the sum of the rents of the individual households

Rooms

The number of rooms occupied was derived from the answers given to question 27

27. ROOMS

State the number of rooms occupied by the household (including kitchen but excluding kitchenette, scullery, bathroom, toilet, consulting room, office or shop)

In the case of a permanent housing unit consisting of more than one household the number of rooms in the housing unit is the sum of the number of rooms occupied by the individual households within it

Year Built

The census question relating to the year in which the house was built was formulated as follows.

28. YEAR IN WHICH THE HOUSE WAS BUILT

Indicate the period in which the house or other building containing the dwelling was built by inserting ✓ in the appropriate box. The year in which first built is required even if subsequently converted, extended or renovated.

- | | |
|---|----------------------------|
| Before 1919 | ☐ 1 |
| Between 1919 and 1940 inclusive | ☐ 2 |
| Between 1941 and 1960 inclusive | ☐ 3 |
| Between 1961 and 1970 inclusive | ☐ 4 |
| Between 1971 and 1980 inclusive | ☐ 5 |
| Between 1981 and 1985 inclusive | ☐ 6 |
| 1986 or later | ☐ 7 |

Some of the responses to this question may not be accurate. Householders occupying older houses tend to be unsure about when they were built. Nevertheless, because of the interest in the figures and given the greater accuracy of the details for the more recent periods, tables relating to the year in which the house was built have been included in this Volume.

Water Supply, Bath or Shower and Sanitary Facilities

Information on types of water supply, sanitary facilities and access to bath and shower facilities was derived from the answers given to questions 29 to 31.

29. WATER SUPPLY (Insert ✓ in appropriate box)

Commentary

Overall Features

The total population enumerated in the 1991 Census of Population was 3,525,719. Of this total, 3,408,651 persons, who comprised 1,019,723 private households, were living in 1,006,506 permanent housing units. A further 24,397 persons covering 9,361 households were living in caravans or other temporary dwellings. The remaining 92,671 persons were enumerated in non-private dwellings.

The average number of persons per private household in permanent housing units was 3.34 and the average size of dwelling was 5.25 rooms giving an average density of occupation of 0.64 persons per room.

Household Density

Table A shows the average number of persons per private household in permanent housing units in the State and in the Aggregate Town and Aggregate Rural Areas since 1926.

Table A Average number of persons per private household in permanent housing units, 1926-1991

In rural areas there has been a consistent decline in average household size from 4.55 persons in 1926 to 3.46 persons in 1991. The downward trend in average household size in urban areas was temporarily halted between 1961 and 1966. Expressed in annual average terms, the rate of decline in average household size for the 1986-1991 intercensal period was the largest since the foundation of the State.

The trends are similar to those in Table A. The number of persons per room has been declining consistently down through the years in both town and rural areas with the exception of the five-year period 1961 to 1966 when a slight increase took place in town areas. While the difference between the town and rural areas was quite small in 1991 (0.66 persons per room in rural areas compared with 0.62 persons per room in town areas), there were sizeable differences between the county averages. In Table 4 of this report, it can be seen that in the Aggregate Town Areas the lowest density was 0.54 for Dun Laoghaire-Rathdown and the highest was 0.68 which was recorded in Laoighis and Offaly. In the Aggregate Rural Area within counties values ranged from a low of 0.56 in Dun Laoghaire-Rathdown to a high of 0.73 in Donegal.

The improvement in housing conditions over the period 1926 to 1991 can also be seen in Table C which provides a classification of the population in private households in permanent housing units by housing density.

Table C Percentage distribution of persons in private households in permanent housing units by housing density

[illegible]

The proportion of the population in private households in permanent housing units with a density of 2 or more persons per room fell from 37.1 per cent in 1926 to 2.0 per cent in 1991. Correspondingly, the proportion of the population in households having less than one person per room rose from 20.8 per cent in 1926 to 63.7 per cent in 1991.

Table 5 of this report shows the percentage of persons in private households in permanent housing units having more than two persons per room in each county and in their Aggregate Town and Aggregate Rural Areas. For the Aggregate Town Area the proportion of the population in households with a density of more than two persons per room varies from a minimum of 0.3 per cent in Dublin-Belgard, Dublin-Fingal, and Counties Cork and Leitrim to a maximum of 1.7 per cent in Kerry. The range for the Aggregate Rural Areas is from a minimum of 0.3 per cent in Dublin-Belgard to a maximum of 2.4 per cent in Donegal.

Amenities

The results of the 1991 Census concerning water supply and sanitary facilities are mainly presented in terms of housing units - although data on these topics are presented in Table 9 for all private dwellings and in Tables 18B and 18C for "Farm dwellings". This follows the procedure used in 1971 and 1981 and allows direct comparisons to be made between the three censuses in respect of housing units. Generally one private household occupies a housing unit but in some cases a housing unit may contain more than one household (e.g. bedsitters). Of the total private households in permanent housing units in 1991 some 957,056 occupied separate housing units while the remaining 62,667 households were accommodated in 49,450 housing units.

Table D shows the percentage of private dwellings and permanent housing units with piped water supply and flush toilet with separate percentages shown for urban and rural areas.

State	70.8	90.0	97.3	70.0	89.8	97.2

* As then defined

Over 99 per cent of private dwellings in urban areas had a piped water supply by 1971. In contrast, only 57.7 per cent of rural private dwellings had this facility. A significant improvement (to 88.8 per cent) was recorded between 1971 and 1981 and further progress was recorded in the following decade so that 97.1 per cent of rural private dwellings had a piped water supply in 1991.

A similar position holds with regard to the percentages of private dwellings with a flush toilet. In 1991, 97.3 per cent of private dwellings had this amenity. In urban areas 99.9 per cent of private dwellings had a flush toilet while 93.6 per cent of rural dwellings had one - the latter compares with 78.0 per cent in 1981 and 42.4 per cent in 1971.

Table E shows the variation in the different counties and their Aggregate Town and Aggregate Rural Areas in the numbers of permanent housing units with piped water supply and flush toilets.

Almost all housing units in urban areas in each county had a piped water supply. In the case of rural areas, however, County Leitrim had the lowest percentage (94.4 per cent) while Dublin-Fingal (99.7 per cent) had the highest percentage.

It is also clear from Table E that almost every housing unit in the urban areas of each county had a flush toilet. County Roscommon (at 99.4 per cent) had the lowest percentage. In the case of rural areas, the percentage of housing units with flush toilets varied from a low of 88.7 per cent in County Leitrim to a high of 97.3 per cent in Dublin-Belgard.

Nature of Occupancy

Table F shows the number of permanent housing units and private dwellings therein, classified by certain categories of nature of occupancy for which the distinction is particularly relevant.

The main difference between housing units and private dwellings occurred in the rented "Furnished or part-furnished" category, in which more than one private dwelling frequently existed within one housing unit. In total there were 63,330 private dwellings "Rented furnished or part-furnished" located in 53,671 rented private housing units, a ratio of less than 1.2 to 1. It can be seen that Dublin Co. Borough contained the greatest concentration of these dwellings with 23,326 rented dwellings located in 17,133 permanent rented housing units, a ratio of 1.4 to 1. The ratio of housing units to private dwellings was close to one in the case of other categories of occupancy.

The percentage distribution of private dwellings and permanent housing units in the three main categories of occupancy is shown in Table G for 1971, 1981 and 1991.

Table G shows a decline in the proportion of rented accommodation - both private and local authority. Rented accommodation continues to be more prevalent in Aggregate Town than in Aggregate Rural Areas

There was little change in rural areas in the last ten years in the proportions of dwellings in the different nature of occupancy categories

For the State as a whole in 1991, 79.3 per cent of private dwellings were owner occupied.

Fuel Used

Table H provides a classification of private dwellings in permanent housing units according to the principal fuel used to heat the dwellings in 1981 and 1991

Table H Private dwellings in permanent housing units classified by principal type of fuel used to heat the dwelling in winter time, 1981 and 1991

Type of Fuel Used	Number		Percentage
	1981	1991	1981	1991
Solid fuel	628,105	628,508	70.1	61.6
Electricity	58,255	51,326	6.5	5.0
Oil	140,682	199,869	15.7	19.6
Gas	41,210	109,538	4.6	10.7
Other fuels (incl. not stated)	27,802	30,482	3.1	3.0
Total	896,054	1,019,723	100 -	100 -

While solid fuel continues to be the main fuel used to heat private dwellings in winter time, its importance declined from 70.1 per cent in 1981 to 61.6 per cent in 1991. Gas was the fastest growing domestic fuel in the 1981-1991 intercensal period, up from 4.6 per cent in 1981 to 10.7 per cent in 1991. The importance of oil as a source of winter fuel also grew although the increase was not as pronounced as for gas.
