You are completing this for the CSO (Central Statistics Office)

The purpose of the Environment Survey is to collect information on how households across Ireland interact with the environment, particularly in relation to energy use in the home and time spent outdoors in green and natural spaces.

The survey covers a few topics in different sections:

Energy use in the home

Same-day visits and overnight trips to green and natural spaces

Benefits and barriers to visiting green and natural spaces

Participation in water-based activities and sea angling

Concerns about environmental issues

In this survey, by green and natural spaces we mean 'green' outdoor spaces in cities and towns such as parks and canals and those in the countryside such as mountains, forests, or farmlands. Spaces near water such as lakes, reservoirs, rivers and the sea are also included here. We want to collect information about the frequency of your visits to these spaces, the activities you do there and the benefits of time in these spaces to your well-being.

Question

Same-Day Visits to Green and Natural Spaces

For the following questions, please answer how often you visited a series of spaces for recreational purposes over the past three months (June to August, 2024; Summer).

For these questions, please:

- Consider only same-day visits in the Republic of Ireland where you left your home and returned in the same day.
- Include same-day visits of any duration, even short visits near your home.
- Do not include time spent outside for work.
- Do not limit your answer to the examples in the questions.

• Note: one outing, such as one walking route, may include visits to multiple different types of green and natural spaces. Include them separately in your answers even if they were part of the same outing.
